Autobiography

of an Author

I'M A BUSYBODY, by Carl Glick, Thomas Y. Crowell Co., New York, $3.

A book reviewer dealing with the autobiography of an author whom he knew personally might be supposed to be behind the eight-ball — being presumed to know the facts about the man, it would be almost inevitable that the reviewer should be critical of how the facts are arranged and presented.

But Carl Glick's autobiography saves me from that dilemma. He is more than just a good writer—he is so truly an author that his autobiography discloses his life in a way that is almost inevitable that the reviewer should be critical of how the facts are arranged and presented.

I was in the Pulitzer school at Columbia university that year; Carl was out of school, having come to New York to write short stories and plays. He was quite successful. He would do the first draft of a story, then he would revise it, and put it in the mail Wednesday — and on Saturday get a check out of the mail-box. Like the winning horse-race novice, I wondered how long this had been going on — and would it continue.

Well, it has continued, all right. I find out now that all I knew about Carl then was that he was born at Marshalltown, Iowa, was a university graduate, and a pioneer director of community Little Theatre, making a name for himself with the Little Theatre at Waterloo, Iowa, whence he came to New York.

In the 27 years since we shared a New York apartment Carl Glick has become an authority on the Chinese, writing from the viewpoint of America's Chinatown, and a fiction writer of considerable success. With the Dragon, "Three Times I Bow," "Double Ten," and "Swords of Silence." He has also done some very good children's books.

And now his autobiography, "I'm a Busybody," which is the most interesting of all the autobiographies of American college boys roaming the United States and earning a living by one of the most difficult of all trades, writing salable material for magazines and books, or presenting on the stage dramatic productions which the public will buy.

Things I did not know about Carl Glick until now: He has lived in Iowa, New York, Colorado, Montana, San Antonio, Texas, and Florida. He once played the piano, with success, in a honky-tonk. He had a play produced in London and it ran three months — but the same play produced in New York was a flop.

He was in the Army in World War I, and, like myself, was an undistinguished soldier. But I don't know, until now, that he was stationed at Camp Pike, Little Rock.

Carl Glick knew a galaxy of world-famous figures, ranging from Billy Sunday the evangelist to many of the stage and musical stars of Broadway.

It's a fast-moving tale, told with the wit and humor of a man 30 years in the professional writing business; and you'll like every word of it. "I'm a Busybody." Which Carl Glick really was.

Asks Congress for Money to Aid Needy

Washington, Feb. 28 — (AP) — The administration asked congress today for a $200,000,000 to $250,000,000 appropriation of its present $1,000,000,000-a-year program for helping the needy. The extra money would go toward "home relief"—including cost of medical care for all needy people.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the extra money would go toward "home relief"—including cost of medical care for all needy people.

Meyer Bread Succeeds Blue Ribbon

Meyer's Bread today succeeded the Blue Ribbon label throughout the Arkansas territory as the Arkansas company completed its conversion of the former City Bakery plant which it purchased from Roy Jones last July.

Since the purchase the Meyer interests have been operating the bread division here as Blue Ribbon Bakery, producing under the Blue Ribbon label, but today it is Meyer's Bread.

The conversion was celebrated with an organization banquet Saturday night at Hotel Barlow, presided over by Charles Meyer, Sr., and Charles Meyer, Jr. Among those present were: Mrs. Charles Meyer, Jr.; Chester Hunt, Hope manager, and Mrs. Hunt; Jess Gilliam, production superintendent; Jack McKinney, in charge of sales; and for Hope Chamber of Commerce, George W. Robinson, president, and Cy Forsythe, secretary-manager.

The Meyer father-and-son combination now operate seven bakeries, all in Arkansas, and all Arkansas owned. The plants are at: Little Rock (2), Hope, Texarkana, Pine Bluff, Mynerville and Jonesboro.

The Meyers had long recognized the sustained growth of southwest Arkansas and came in here last July with the purchase of Roy Jones' City Bakery, and old and new bakery building on South Main street, attracting attention of the public as it maneuvered in the wind.

Mr. Jones' Blue Ribbon label was continued until this week-end, when the switch-over to the Meyer's Bread label was announced.

As a feature advertising their bread label the Meyer firm floated a miniature "blimp" high above the bakery building on South Main street, attracting attention of the public as it maneuvered in the wind.

Scouts to Hold Kite Contest

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from all over Hempstead County are invited to participate in the annual flying contest which is to be held at the old airport, near the school range, just out of Hope on the Columbus road on Sunday, March 6.

Scouts and Cubs may enter as many kites as they wish in the following classes: Highest flying kite, smallest kite, most beautiful kite, oddest kite and kite fights.

All kites must be made by the contestant and his parents and fly at least 30 feet in height.

The contest is to be held on Sunday afternoon, March 6, beginning at 1:00 o'clock. Judging will be at 2:30 in charge of Bill Wray, activities chairman.

Fertilizer Meetings Are Planned

A series of 15 meetings will be held during the two week period February 28 to March 12 to explain the Fertilizer Plant to all farmers of Hempstead County, announced by MacKenzie, president of Hempstead County Farm Bureau.

The first meeting was held this afternoon, February 28 at Spring Hill. Community leaders will be in charge.

The Fertilizer plant plan of Hempstead County is under the direction of an eight member committee as follows: Melson Frazier, S. E. Lee, Sloman Goodlett, W. J. Arnold, Garland Kidd, W. H. Burke, W. B. Jones, and J. E. Odum.

It is our desire that every Hempstead County farmer know the details of the plan. Fertilizer will be pledged to those who purchase stock only. Every farmer who has use of mixed fertilizer should consider the plan from an individual standpoint.

The meetings except the Spring Hill meeting are as follows: Friendship Methodist church near Newkirk Tuesday, March 1 at 9:30 a.m.; Blington at Church Tuesday, March 1 at 1:30 p.m.; Washington Wednesday, March 2 at 9:30 a.m.; Sardis Methodist church North of Ozark Wednesday, March 2 at 1:30 p.m.; Beards Chapel Thursday, March 3 at 9:30 a.m.; DeAnn Thursday, March 3 at 1:30 p.m.; Columbus Friday, March 4 at 1:30 p.m.; Hope at County Courtroom Friday, March 4 at 1:30 p.m.; Sweet Home church Monday, March 7 at 9:30 a.m.; Blevins Monday, March 7 at 1:30 p.m.; Patmos at church Tuesday, March 8 at 9:30 a.m.; Fulton Friday, March 11 at 9:30 a.m.; McNab Friday, March 11 at 10:30 a.m.

Weekend Accidents Claim at Least Seven Lives

By The Associated Press
Weekend traffic accidents in Arkansas claimed the lives of at least seven persons.

Mrs. Doris Childers, 28, and Dwan Prince, 24, were killed Sunday when a truck and automobile collided near Des Arc.

Other weekend traffic deaths included Isaac Smith, 41, Negro of Thornton, when his bicycle and a school bus collided near Bearden Saturday night.

Allen Fay Bailey, 28, Conway county farmer, when the auto in which he was riding left the highway and overturned in a ditch near Morrilton Saturday.

Senate Heads for Showdown on Filibuster

Washington, Feb. 28 — (AP) — President Truman advised administration leaders in the senate today to meet the filibuster issue "head on" and seek a showdown on curbing it.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois told reporters after a White House conference that Mr. Truman had given that advice.

Lucas himself commented: "This issue has to be met sooner or later, and we might as well meet it now."

That meant, he indicated, that the fight over the filibuster would not be put aside for any legislative bill, but would be fought to a finish.

The senate, meeting at noon, had up the question of whether to change its rules so that debate could be held at any time that two-thirds of the senators on the floor voted to halt it.

Under present rules, there are some situations in which no limit can be put on debate. That means senators opposed to a bill can keep talking, or filibustering as it is called, and prevent a vote.

Southerners want to keep the filibuster in the past to bar a vote on anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation. They are among measures President Truman is asking as part of his civil rights program.

Southerners want to keep the chance to filibuster so they can use the measure as a bargaining chip. So they are opposed to any change against changing the rules.

The administration's hope of putting the rule change over hangs on wearing out the Southerners—or getting a ruling from vice president Barkley, the senate's presiding officer, that would permit a vote to limit debate on the proposal to change the rules.

Barkley was at the White House with Lucas. Asked how he would rule on the matter was raised, Barkley said:

"I'll pass on no question until it arises."

Lucas, Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn met for upwards of 45 minutes with Mr. Truman.

Lucas said that he is hopeful that the rule change can be put through, but he declined to speculate on how long it might take to stop a filibuster against it.

At present time, he said, the president is not particularly worried that his legislative program will be stymied by the fight over the filibuster.

There is no doubt, of course," Lucas said, that it will delay action on many administrative proposals but "this issue has to be met sooner or later and we might as well meet it now." He said he was "pretty confident of success."

This Doe is a Mail Deer

In Council, Ga., everybody knows Flagg, the 2-year-old pet doe belonging to Postmistress Mrs. E. Johnson. Flagg scampers with Mrs. Johnson on her daily rounds. Here, the deer watches while railway postal clerk B. H. Talley gives Mrs. Johnson the mail delivery. Then, they'll go to the post office, stopping off at stores where Flagg usually gets some candy or soft drinks.

Four More Ministers Plead Guilty

Sofia, Feb. 28 — (UP) — The mass trial of 15 protestant clergymen speeded up today with a rush of brief guilty pleas along the now familiar pattern of fearful confessions and professions of remorse.

Four more of the pastors marched by the witness bar in rapid order, raising to seven the number who have pleaded guilty to the charges of treason, black marketing and espionage to the United States and Great Britain.

Georgi Nikolov Chernov, head of the Protestant church in Bulgaria, was the first of the defendants to be heard at the opening of the new week in the trial. He confessed and blamed his co-defendants for getting him tangled up in anti-state activities.

Chernov went into his confession at some length, and then the tempo of the district court proceedings quickened. Other pastors followed him and rushed through their pleas.

The volume of self-incrimination that marked the first few days of the trial was slackened with the appearance of each defendant. The tenor of all the confessions was the same, and the material with which the deal differed little.

After Chernov, 46, a Protestant minister, came another defendant.

Life of a Hermit Wouldn't Be So Bad If It Brought the Attention 'Uncle Silas' Gets

By HAL BOYLE
St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 28 — (AP) — You can't get away from life. And the "hermit of Cabbage Key" has quit trying. He's becoming so social now he's weaving but shy and looking forward to becoming a baby sitter.

The hermit is 68-year-old Silas Dent, who has lived for some 40 years on Cabbage Key, a 2,000-acre sub-tropical island 12 miles southwest of here. Much of that time he has spent alone in a palm-thatched hut.

But today "Uncle Silas" is the most modernized hermit in history. Civilization caught up with him after two young honeymooning couples moved to the island and adopted him.

"I'll bet there isn't a hermit anywhere that gets the attention he does," said Mrs. Barbara Simmons.

Military Unity Termed Weak by Hoover Group

Washington, Feb. 28 — (AP) — The Hoover commission today called the new unified national military establishment "perilously close to the weakest type of department" in the government.

The investigating commission deplored lack of civilian control by the president and defense secretary over the powerful military high command, the joint chiefs of staff.

It said there is "continued disharmony and lack of unified planning" in the supposedly "unified" department of defense; it found that the military is far too free of civilian control; and it warned of "extravagance" and "waste" which could do serious damage to the national economy.

The 12-man bipartisan commission on government reorganization, headed by former president Herbert Hoover, strongly urged on congress six recommendations intended to remedy defects it found under the present unification law.

"There is evidence," it reported, "that the utmost that can be accomplished under the present statute will fall far short of national needs."

Most of the recommendations were aimed at concentrating greater control in the hands of the civilian Secretary of Defense (secretary of War until 1947), a member of the commission, took no part in preparing the report.

But the group's final suggestion emphasized the need for immediate action on such things as "emergency plans for civilians and industrial mobilization," plans for civilian defense and "defenses against unconventional methods of warfare."

Commenting on the freedom enjoyed by the military, the commission leveled especially strong criticism at the way the joint chiefs of staff are set up.

It said the chiefs "are virtually a law unto themselves" and suggested appointing a chairman to bring the army and air force "military units" under strong civilian control.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower recently was named temporary chairman of the joint chiefs by President Truman, reportedly bringing an end to disagreements among the services. Whether that was the kind of appointment the commission had in mind, the report did not say.

But it did find considerable stress on the bad effect of "inter-service rivalries," commenting that they "indicate a lack of understanding of the fact that military security depends upon cooperation and balance among the army, navy and air force."

And what the commission said about the military establishment "as a whole went especially for the joint chiefs, who include the chiefs of staff of the army and air force, the chief of naval operations, and the chief of staff to the president."

"Three of the four members are spokesmen for separate service arms," the report said, "the secretary of defense, and his viewpoint for the unified establishment as a whole, is not represented in their deliberations."

"Thus, though the secretary of defense is, under the act, the principal assistant to the president in military matters, in a practical matter, maintain effective civilian control over this most powerful of military units."

This "divided responsibility and allegiance tantamount to an almost complete absence of control," the report declared.

That lack of clear control over the military the commission found to be one of the major flaws in the 1949 unification act, although it said that measure "has achieved gains."

"Throughout its history," the report said, "the United States has been fearful of military cliques and has thrown up safeguards against this threat to democratic government."

Now, it went on the pressure of events has resulted in a budget of approximately $150,000,000 in the current fiscal year, more than a third of all federal appropriations, and large military budgets must be the expectation for the immediate future.

"Under these circumstances, the nation must make very sure that means of exercising civilian control are strong and effective," it said.

Thought of Cow When Plunged Into Ground

Little Rock, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Byrd says she thought of a cow in a silo in Oklahoma when she suddenly plunged 15 feet into the ground.

She and her mother were working in the yard here Saturday. Mrs. Byrd—to use her words—vanished as if the earth opened up and swallowed her, to the astonishment of her mother.

What had happened was that the eastern covering of an abandoned cistern had given way under Mrs. Byrd's feet.

One of her first thoughts after she had stopped falling, Mrs. Byrd confessed, "was of that cow in the silo out in Oklahoma. I knew just how she felt. It also occurred to me that they rescued the cow by greasing her body and I made up my mind immediately that I did not care for such tactics. It was then I suggested to mother that she lower a ladder."

Mrs. Byrd's mother, Mrs. Frances Szymanski, with the help of a neighbor, extricated Mrs. Byrd with a ladder and garden hose. Mrs. Byrd escaped serious injury.

District Stock Show Officers Are Named

The officers and executive committee of the Third District Livestock Show Association were announced yesterday at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office, in Hope, Arkansas. The officers are:

C. Cook, County Judge, Hope, Ark., President; Homer Purdie, Prescott, Ark., Vice President; Harry Baker, Magnolia, Ark., Vice President; Glenn Wallace, Nashville, Ark., Vice President; Dale Jones, Hope, Arkansas, Treasurer; B. D. Forsythe, Hope, Ark., Secretary.

The Executive Committee, consisting of the above mentioned officers, is also composed of: Kenneth Hamilton, Hope; Chas. A. Armistage, Magnolia; William Mudgett, Hope; Terrell Cornelius, Hope; A. D. "Doc" Brannon, Hope.

The following Committee Chairmen were selected: Exhibits Committee, M. S. Ball; Catalogue Committee, M. S. Ball; Chairman, Rodeo Committee, Ben McRae; Chairman, Sales Committee, Graydon Anthony, Chairman; Foultry Committee, Norman Moore; Chairman, Parade Committee, Rae M. Luck, Chairman; Exhibit Hall Committee, Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, Chairman; Swine Committee, Harry Baker, Chairman; Grounds Committee, Frank Douglas, Chairman; Exhibits Committee, Roy Hammond, Chairman; Horse Committee, Royce Smith, Chairman; Livestock Committee, Russell Lewallen, Chairman; Rodeo Committee, Queen Conner; Chairman, Entertainment Committee, E. Young, J. Chairman; Publicity Committee, Earl Young, Chairman; Judging Committee, A. D. "Doc" Brannon, Emmet Williams, Garland City, Ark., Glenn Wallace, Nashville, Ark., Orville Hall, Magnolia, Ark.; Carnival Committee, Bill Mudgett, Chairman.

The Third District Livestock Show, one of the outstanding livestock shows and fairs in Southwest Arkansas, will be held on September 10-24th, at the fair grounds in Hope, Arkansas.

It was determined that those persons purchasing tickets for the season will be exempted from purchasing gate tickets on the nights when the rodeo is held. Rodeo tickets will be punched at the main gate. General admissions at the gate will be 25c for adults, .05c for children.

Plans are underway for making the 1949 Third District Livestock Show the finest show that has ever been held in this section of Arkansas.

Legislature May Work at Nights

Little Rock, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Arkansas legislators will learn early in this week whether they will have to go into night sessions to get their work done before they adjourn March 10.

Some 500 bills already introduced await action. New ones will be submitted this week.

However, Governor McMath said over the weekend that he expects "no trouble" in the legislature closing on time.

Some of the new items which will be taken up this week are the governor's revenue stabilization act revision, an anti-lynch bill and a proposed constitutional amendment to create a budget bureau.

All Voters to Pick Municipal Judge

Little Rock, Feb. 28 — (AP) — The Stuttgart municipal judge would be elected by all voters of Arkansas county under a bill passed by the Arkansas house this morning.

Danes Ready to Sign, Norway Leans to West

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Denmark appeared line up firmly with the West in the cold war today, and there were indications that Sweden, to, is leaning in that direction.

Denmark's position on the North Atlantic Treaty, traditionally a Western military alliance against Russian expansion — was made clear yesterday when the country's largest political party, the Social Democrats, decided to look to the West for security.

Meanwhile, Swedish diplomatic sources in Sweden, traditionally neutral key nation of the north Scandinavian bloc, predicted that Sweden will join the projected North Atlantic agreement within a few months. One informed source said "somehow the Russians make any move toward Finland."

Norway, the other Scandinavian country already has turned to the West for her military security. Norway said an all-Scandinavian defense arrangement with no links to the West as proposed some time ago by Sweden would not be enough to make her feel secure.

Norway, Sweden and Denmark had accepted economic ties with the West in the Marshall plan. Until recently, however, they had been reluctant to forge any military links for fear of Soviet action. All are within easy range of Soviet forces.

Denmark's Social Democrats, with only one dissenting vote reported, approved through the parliament an executive committee a resolution calling for increased political and military cooperation with the Western democracies. The resolution is "not possible" a present.

The Social Democrats' action was a long step from the party's traditional anti-military policy. Premier Hans Hedtoft, the party leader, stated previously that he personally was in favor of the Atlantic agreement.

As a result, Denmark is now expected, like Norway, to start talks with the Atlantic powers about what she gets and her responsibilities if and when she joins it. It means that Sweden, which turned her back on Russia, is being negotiated by the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Sweden's swing away from the neutrality that has kept her out of war for 135 years was apparent. High Swedish officials now, according to knowledge privately that their country cannot stay on the fence much longer in the East-West line up. They believe isolation is fast becoming impossible and Swedish sympathy lies with the West.

Swedish Prime Minister Tage Erlander and a reporter yesterday said he believes Sweden should adopt a "wait and see" policy for the next five or six months.

The Swedes and Finns are traditionally friendly, but Finland — three wars with Russia — now has a treaty with the Soviet Union and a military base on Finnish soil at Porkkala, near Helsinki, the capital.

The Finns hope to fend off expected Russian demands for more bases in Finland, but they feel no assurance they can do so.

Russia has repeatedly threatened the Atlantic security system an aggressive instrument aimed at her.

Axis Sally Name First Used in Rome

Washington, Feb. 28 — (AP) — American-born Mildred Gillars testified at her treason trial today that the tag of "Axis Sally" reportedly was used by a woman during the war. It was the first time possible second "Axis Sally" broadcasting for the Nazi-Fascist had come up. Miss Gillars is on trial for her Berlin radio broadcasts to allied troops.

Miss Gillars said she used the name "Midge" and never used "Axis Sally" even when she interviewed American prisoners of war in Nazi prison camps.

Soldiers in Europe during World War II called her "Axis Sally." The government charges her broadcasts were to undermine Allied morale.

Miss Gillars said that in 1943 she heard a radio woman broadcaster named "Axis Sally," "announcing herself as Axis Sally," she said, and an inquiry made.

Federal Judge Edward M. Curran sustained a prosecution objection that her reference was hearsay, but let stand her testimony that she got an investigation of the report.

Miss Gillars herself complained to Curran she couldn't know for certain such a person was using the name. "How could I if I wasn't in Rome myself?" she said.

Miss Gillars denied that she was "partially exposed" when she persuaded Michael Evankov of New York, former paratrooper, to make a prisoner of war recording.

Evankov had testified that she crossed her legs in a provocative way when she sat on a cot across from him and asked him to make a recording. Defense Attorney J. J. Laughlin asked a hearing incident occurred as Evankov described it.

"Mr. Laughlin," she replied, "certainly did not."

It is estimated that only one out of three persons suffering from rheumatism in the United States receive treatment from a physician.

ABC Filling Out the Short Tax Form

(Editor's note: This is the fifth of 12 stories on who has to do what about making his 1948 income tax return, for the deadline is March 15.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 25 —(AP)— This is an ABC on filling out your 1948 income tax return on the 1040 short-form.

Like anyone else with income under $5,000, Jones can use the short-form. His income was $4,800. His wife had none. They have a dependent child.

But his first problem is: Should he file alone, separately, since his wife had no income and doesn't have to file? Or jointly. He knows: 1. When a husband has income, but not the wife, he can file by himself and get exemption for himself, his wife, and any dependent.

But— Note this: Under the new law many husbands and wives — although not all — save money by filing jointly, even though the wife had no income. Why?

Because the new law permits "splitting" income. If husband and wife each were claiming half the total income.

2. No exemption can be claimed for a wife who had income, no matter how tiny, unless she files jointly with her husband, or separately. (Remember: A wife is not classified as a dependent. A wife can still claim a dependent person with income, so long as it's not $500 or more, and get an exemption for him.)

If the wife with income files separately, she claims her own exemption, and the husband, filing his own return separately, claims his own exemption.

his own exemption. And the one who provided more than half the support of a dependent — like a child, claims an exemption for him.

If husband and wife file jointly — when both have income — they get their two exemptions, plus one exemption for each dependent.

3. When husband and wife have income which is individually less than $5,000 but combined is more than $5,000, they can file separately on the short-form, but not jointly. Or, they can file separately or jointly on the 1040 long-form.

Since Jones had income but his wife didn't, he comes under No. 1 above. So, to find out whether he saves by filing separately or jointly, he turns to the tax table on Page 1.

He looks at the column which shows the tax on a person whose income was $4,800 and wants to claim three exemptions as Jones does. They show the tax, in a case like that, when a return is made separately or jointly.

In Jones' case: The tax is $437, if he files alone. It's only $422, if he files alone, if he files jointly with his wife. So he'll do that. Now return to Page one. Start down, answering the questions at the top, then—

No. 1. Jones lists himself, his wife, his dependent child. He answers "no" to the questions about blindness and age, since neither he nor his wife is 65 or blind.

(There's an extra exemption for blind taxpayer and another for his wife, if she's blind, and another extra exemption for him if he's over 65, and another extra one for his wife if she's over 65. Example: If both were blind and over 65, each would have three exemptions. But there's no extra exemption for a dependent who's blind or over 65.)

Now Jones comes to No. 2. He writes his employer's name, and place of business. Right beside it he lists his salary, $4,800, which was his entire income. And beside that, he lists — say, for illustration — $460 which his boss withheld from him in taxes during the year.

He skips the next questions which don't apply to him, or fill in those that do, and makes it clear at No. 10 that he had already overpaid his tax by $23. The difference between the $460 his boss withheld from him and the $437 the tax table shows his tax should be.

And under No. 10, since he wants a refund, he checks off the refund box.

Then he answers the rest of the questions. He signs his wife both sign the return. Unless husband and wife both sign a joint return, the collector will consider it a separate return, which may mean a higher tax for the couple.

Then Jones takes that first page of Form 1040 and sends it into the tax collector for his district but, before he does, he does this:

He attaches to it the Form W-2, the withholding receipt his boss gave him for the tax withheld from his salary during the year.

But what of deductions, for things like charity and so on? Jones didn't have to bother about them. His didn't amount to 10 per cent of his income. And the tax table he uses allows for a 10 per cent deduction for everyone.

But — if yours are more than 10 per cent of your income, you'll lose money filing on the 1040 short-form. Use the 1040 long-form. There you'll have to itemize them, but you can claim them in full.

Everyone Should Have Nothing But Praise for UN Mediator Bunche for His Success

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

If I were a ruling king, and United Nations Mediator Ralph Bunche were one of my subjects, should call him before me and touch him on the shoulder with my sword in token of knighthood, saying:

"Well done!! Rise — Sir Ralph! As a matter of fact, I think I'll confer a knighthood on him anyway. He has done a grand job in bringing about an armistice between warring Israel and Egypt."

That will open the way for peace talks between Israel and the other Arab countries with which she has been in conflict. As Bunche himself said, the Israeli-Egyptian delegations at yesterday's signing:

"Important history is being recorded here today. You have made a significant contribution to the cause of world peace."

He said more, but it was couched in the same restrained language. Such restraint is rather typical of the 44 year old international expert, who works big and talks modest. However, while he doesn't bluster he is persuasive. He inspires confidence. He is a leader and a doer.

This grandson of an American slave has an outstanding record of achievement since youth. He was a Phi Beta Kappa student at the University of California, has a doctorate from Harvard, was a star athlete, has been a college professor, has written several books.

He has held notable positions for the United States government. Bunche was assistant to Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator in Palestine, when the count was assassinated in Jerusalem last November. The American look over what many observers regard as an almost "impossible" task. In five months he has delivered the goods.

With the Israeli-Egyptian armistice effective, Israel and the Arab state of Trans-Jordan are scheduled to open similar talks next Monday. The other Arab nations are giving indications that they will fall in line.

On the face of it the new-born Israel, the first Jewish government in 2,000 years — has achieved a remarkable success. She has established and maintained a "national home" which meets many of her historic ambitions. Of particular satisfaction must be the winning of most of the negev desert which not only has mineral resources but is susceptible of agricultural development.

Does the present armistice mean that we have seen the end of quarrels between the Arab states and Israel?

Let us hope for such a happy conclusion — but keep our fingers crossed.

That part of the world is likely to remain a tinder-box for a long time. It will be a miracle if empires which have existed for centuries are cured overnight. In any event, a start has been made towards peace.

And what of the future for the new Israel? Predictions are dangerous but this column is going to make one. As I read the signs, Israel is heading for the dominant position in the affairs of the strategic Middle East.

We likely are witnessing the beginning of another important power.

Chandler May Probe Yankee, Indian Feud

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 28 —(UP)— An atmosphere of mystery was building up here today as it appeared the growing feud between the New York Yankees and the World Champion Cleveland Indians would come to the attention of Baseball Commissioner Albert B. Chandler.

Bill Veck, boss man of the Tribe who has been involved with the Yanks in two recent disputes over rookie signings, said last week he would see Chandler today and was reported en route.

However, there were no indications that Veck, General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees, or anyone else connected with either team has been summoned by the commissioner. Any talk on the subject would apparently occur by choice of Veck or Weiss.

The two team heads have been feuding since the Indians signed Negro shortstop Arlie Wilson, who performed with the Birmingham Black Barons of the Negro National League.

Weiss claimed that the Yankees had an earlier oral agreement with Wilson. He said the Indians were guilty of "unethical practices" that have no place in baseball and on Feb. 12 he protested the signing to Chandler.

Last Friday, it was Veck's turn. The Cleveland president derided the Yankees' signing of Luis Marquez, Negro outfielder of the Homestead Grays. Marquez, in Puerto Rico, was signed to a contract with the Yankees' Newark farm of the International League.

Veck claimed the Indians had a 120-day option on Marquez since Nov. 25, 1948. He said he didn't think Weiss knew of this option when he signed Marquez, and added he was "sure" Chandler would uphold the "Indians' right to Marquez."

While all signs pointed to an airing of these disputes, there was no official announcement that a discussion was coming up. Chandler has never officially acknowledged receipt of a protest in either case.

Closing out in second place was Ed Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md. who had a 72-hole total of 269.

Ed J. Harrison of Little Rock wound up third with 270.

French Major Admits Giving Out Papers

By the Associated Press

The French government, busily waging a drive to purge Communist elements, said today a Communist army major has confessed turning army documents over to a "foreign military attaché."

The interior ministry said the officer—identified only as a "Major Tuesday"—was on active service with the French army and had admitted handing over "numerous documents which he had been able to collect in his jobs in the offices of the ministry of munitions and national defense."

The attaché was not identified, nor was the country he represents named. The major was identified as stockholder in the Communist Weekly, France D'Abord, whose business manager was arrested Friday. The ministry said another officer, a captain charged with giving defense secrets to the paper, also will be court martialed.

Many Frenchmen wondered nervously how far France would go in the purge as the campaign against Communists on the parliamentary front continued with an official request for lifting the immunity of Florimond Bonje, a Communist leader in the national assembly and party press spokesman.

The assembly will consider this week similar measures on Marcel Cohn, veteran Communist leader and editor. Albert Thorez, secretary general of the party.

France's Communists are accused of inciting labor unrest and declaring that "France will never fight the Soviet Union" but that Frenchmen should welcome the Soviet army if it moved into France.

Elsewhere in Europe the Russians were running into opposition. Winston Churchill made a fiery plea for European unity in Brussels yesterday, amid Communist heckling. The former British prime minister declared a unified Europe was the sole means of preventing another "dark age."

In Belgrade two priests were reported sentenced to death on charges of wartime aid to German and Italian occupation forces in Yugoslavia. Borba, mouthpiece of Yugoslavia's Communist party, said the two had "admitted their guilt."

In Budapest the trial of 14 persons accused of being linked with Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in alleged black market money dealings opened today before a people's court.

pastor of Sofia, Lamri Marinov Mishkov pleaded guilty and confessed. He is 41 and a Plovdiv congregationalist.

Georgi Nikolov Vashev, 48, a Baptist from Lon, was next, and after him Haralan Ivanov Popov, 49.

Typical of the line taken by all the defendants thus far were the final words of the tall, slender Mishkov. He said:

"I want to say I sincerely repent from the bottom of my heart. I am ashamed of myself to a degree, but will add my efforts to the building up of socialism in our country."

Chernev, 46, spoke in a tired monotone voice. He followed the outline of a 248-page confession published before the trial but skipped large sections of it. Observers received the impression he had been instructed to do so to speed up the trial.

last Thursday. They drove to the nudist camp, some 20 miles from Washington, where Holober was a member. The camp is closed during the winter. It is situated about 200 yards from a little-used country road.

Holober said he shot his wife three times in the neck with a German Lager. He turned the gun on the infant, he said, but the weapon wouldn't fire. So he grabbed the tot and threw her into the grave at her mother's feet and tossed some loose dirt over her, Holober related.

Mrs. Holober's body was found lying on its back. None of her clothing was missing, but her undergarments were pulled down to her ankles.

The baby's tiny fists clutched bits of dirt, as if she had tried to claw her way out of the spot.

When first questioned by police, Holober had said that his wife jumped from the parked automobile with the tot in her arms during an argument. He said she had run up the road from the nudist camp and had disappeared.

He said he himself slept in the car Thursday night because he

Little Doubt Kentucky Is Nation's Best

New York, Feb. 28 —(AP)— Kentucky's mighty Wildcats today appeared to have a clear path to both the national invitation and NCAA post-season basketball tournaments.

Kentucky, overwhelmingly voted the No. 1 team in the country in the latest Associated Press poll, is a cinch for a bid to the invitation. It starts March 12 in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The Wildcats probably will accept, since it will give them the only chance to avenge their lone defeat of the season. St. Louis, defending invitation champion, beat Kentucky, 42-40, in the Sugar Bowl finals. And St. Louis will be back.

Kentucky also is interested in the NCAA merry-go-round in which it is the defending champion.

Kentucky ended its eighth unbeaten Southeastern conference season Saturday night by trouncing Vanderbilt, 70-37, for its 25th victory against the single loss.

The Wildcats still have to get through the conference tournament starting Thursday before they can be considered officially by the NCAA.

St. Louis (18-3) and Kentucky, naturally, are the top choices for the invitation. But the New York tourney is still hopeful of luring Oklahoma A. and M. (19-3) to the big city. The Aggies whipped St. Louis, 40-37, Saturday night and also hold a 29-27 overtime decision over the Billikens. St. Louis' other loss was to Ohio State.

Other teams under consideration for the eight top sports are San Francisco (21-5), Utah (22-6), Texas (17-8), North Carolina State (22-8), Duquesne (17-4), Bradley (24-5), Bowling Green (20-6), Butler (18-4), Chicago Loyola (20-5), and LaSalle (19-6), from out of town and CCNY (16-5), Manhattan (16-7), St. John's of Brooklyn (12-8), and New York University (10-6) from New York.

At least one New York team will be selected and possibly two. Some of the invitation teams may be announced this afternoon. All eight probably will be disclosed by the end of the week.

Committee Gets Economy Report

Washington, Feb. 28 —(AP)— A preliminary congressional report generally backing President Truman's idea of a sound economy — and full of inflation warnings — comes up for committee appraisal today.

The report, a worksheet draft, is before the senate-house economic committee. It might be approved by the Democratic majority, but the Republican members plan to file a vigorous dissent.

The confidential document, shown to a reporter, was circulated to committee members over the week-end for study in advance of today's session (9 a. m. EST). It was prepared by the chairman, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), and the committee staff.

The committee is supposed to submit to congress tomorrow a final report on the president's economic program.

The preliminary draft comes out strongly for granting Mr. Truman's request for standby authority to reimpose price and wage controls on a selective basis. It plugs for extension and tightening up for rent control, for mandatory allocation of scarce materials, continuation of consumer credit controls, an increase in the minimum wage, a broader social security program and larger benefits, public housing and slum clearance, federal aid for education, a flexible and "well integrated" farm program, and other programs the president wants.

As for Mr. Truman's demand for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase, the report suggests approval of that but doesn't come right out and say so.

The Youngsters Loved it . . .

Yes, the youngsters loved the snow and ice. It meant snow balling, sled riding, skating, and fun galore. Of course it also meant wet feet, damp clothes, dirty floors, more work for the lady of the house. But with a warm gas fire, plenty of hot water, and no fuel problems, no one worried.

you needed. But most families used much more than usual. So much, that during the last of January and early in February the demand for gas reached an all-time high.

That is, no one worried but your Gas-man. He knew it meant an unusual demand for natural gas. It meant hard work . . . around the clock work to keep you supplied with an adequate supply of fuel—clean, fast, low cost natural gas . . . as little, or as much as

We are sure you appreciate now, more than ever, the wonderful advantage of having a dependable supply of natural gas and how inexpensive it is compared to all other items in your family budget. Despite the fact that you needed and used more gas than usual, the total cost is still less than any other fuel available for home use.

Snow, Cold Strikes the Dakotas

By The Associated Press
Snow and a stinging cold wave counter-attacked the army's blizzard relief forces in North Dakota today and sent temperatures down to around zero as far south as Iowa.

Just as the army was about to write off operation snowbound as mission accomplished, two inches of snow and strong wind closed more than 2,000 miles of North Dakota highways over the weekend. In the same time, the army's bulldozers had opened only about 1,200 miles. The army said at least another 100 miles would be required to reopen the newly-closed roads.

Temperatures throughout the area, the only sector still snow-bound, ranged from zero to around 20 below Low readings of around zero were in prospect also for Mason City and Spencer, Iowa.

The cold wave was expected to move eastward across Minnesota and Wisconsin today, followed by warmer air which already had spread most of the western Great Plains.

The army's month-long fight against the snow in Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota came to an end yesterday.

Meanwhile alerts against floods from the melting snow were extended along the Missouri river from Leavenworth, Kansas to Plattsmouth, Neb. The stream was five feet above flood stage at Atchison, Kansas, and 7 feet above flood stage at St. Joseph, Mo. It was ice-jammed for 50 miles upstream from Leavenworth with only minor breaks occurring in the jam.

Near Steel City, Neb., an ice jam collapsed a 300-foot steel bridge and threatened two others.

The Platte river was 4.5 feet over flood stage at Agency, Mo., and at Scandia, Mo., the Republican river was 3.6 feet above flood. The Nebr. river at Falls City, Neb., was receding.

Most of the nation had fair weather and clear skies with temperatures around normal.

Six Students Missing in College Blaze

Gambier, O., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Officials said today all evidence indicated that six students, missing since yesterday when a fire destroyed the 122-year-old Kenyon college dormitory, had perished in the blaze.

There were two known dead and hospital attendants said one of the 12 burned seriously was not expected to live. More than fifteen students received minor burns in the fire which was discovered at 4 a. m.

Gordon K. Chalmers, Kenyon president, said "the missing men's absence could not be established definitely until after roll call at classes today."

Chalmers said it probably would not be safe to search the ruins until late today when the embers had cooled. He estimated damage at $1,000,000.

The dead were identified as Edward H. Brout, 19, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Mars S. Peck, Fenton, Mich. Both died of injuries suffered when they jumped from windows to escape the flames.

Missing were: Ernest Ahwajee, 19, Akron, O.; Albert J. Louis, 19, Hazelton, Pa.; George Pincus, 19, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Stephan M. Sheppard, 19, New York, N. Y.; Colon Woodworth, 20, Jamaica Plain, Mass.; and Martin E. Mangel, 17, New York, N. Y.

One of the injured students in the hospital said he saw Ahwajee dragging a fire hose into the basement of the blazing building at the height of the fire.

Louis was last seen at 8 p. m. when he told friends: "I'm staying here for the weekend."

College officials said they had about abandoned hope for Pincus who last was seen in bed by his roommate shortly before the latter jumped for his life.

The roommate, Robert Cohn, who is in serious condition, said he told Pincus:

"You got to jump, it's the only way out."

He said Pincus appeared frightened but that he did not stay to see whether he jumped. The room was destroyed.

Sheppard told friends he was going to Columbus, O., for the week-end. But two motorists said they had picked him up on the road from Columbus and dropped him off at the dormitory a short time before the fire broke out.

Woodworth and Mangel were last seen by friends in the dormitory about midnight. They said they were going to bed and were not seen after that.

Hospital authorities here said Jacob McDonald, Hamilton, O., was in critical condition and sinking fast. He suffered a fractured skull.

assigned to the multi-engine school here where he received instruction in E-25 aircraft.

It is said that four milk bottles are used for every person who takes a bottle of milk daily. While one is being delivered, a second awaits the next delivery, a third is being washed, and fourth is kept in reserve.

Another student, Robert McFarland, Ames, Iowa, was in critical condition but hospital attendants said he was improving rapidly and probably would recover.

Eleven other students were in serious condition and more than 15 were treated for minor injuries. Most of the injured were hurt when they jumped from windows of the three-story building or clambered down the ivy-covered walls.

Firemen said the fire apparently was started by sparks from an unprotected fireplace after a party in the dormitory lounge.

Chalmers said the college volunteer fire department was hampered by the lack of water and could do little to halt the spread of flames. When the school's reservoir tank went dry the fire fighters had to take water from a nearby well.

There was no panic during the blaze and Chalmers commended the students for their behavior and the way they helped each other.

About 75 students were temporarily housed in other dormitories and private homes.

Firemen said the students in the buildings' two wings managed to save their personal belongings but that those in the central section where the fire started lost everything.

DOROTHY DIX Beggars Can't Be Choosers

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a 19-year-old girl and there is something I don't understand—that is, why I am not popular with the boys. Other girls are better looking than I am have plenty of dates. I know that looks don't count, but just why is it that I don't make a hit with the boys?

I am very particular about the kind of boys I go with and I have not as yet found one who has all the characteristics that I want in a boy. I would like to marry a minister. They aren't perfect either, but there is something about them that I like. And I want a very extra, special fellow for my very own. How can I get more attention from the opposite sex?

JUANITA
Answer: Well, Juanita, you know the old saying that beggars shouldn't be choosers, and perhaps the reason that you do not have any boys to please is because you are too hard to please. Popularity is contagious.

So if you want to be popular don't be snooty. Don't be too critical. Be friendly and cordial. Make every boy you step out with feel he is giving you a treat and that you are tickled to death over it. Don't set your standards too high. Don't wait for the lad who has "all the characteristics that you want in a boy." He is non-existent. Nor will you ever find the "very extra, special fellow" whom you can monopolize. He also belongs in the wishful thinking class. You have to take men as they come, and thank Heaven they are as good as they are.

Mother Is Important
For a girl to be popular with boys depends more on the girl's mother than it does on the girl herself. If mother is overstrict and never lets her daughter go out with the gang and do the things that the other kids are doing, she is hopelessly handicapped. But if mother is cordial and friendly and makes the boys and girls welcome, and if she always has plenty of fun and games handy, she can offset a daughter's downright homeliness.

Other aids to a girl's popularity are to have pretty clothes, to learn how to comb her hair and put on her makeup, to be a good dancer, to know when to talk to a boy and when to listen to him. Given these qualities, and girl can be popular. She even marry the minister upon whom she has set her heart.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am greatly worried about a friend of mine who thinks herself in love with a man who continually holds her up for money. She gives it to him at his demand and he never even pretends to pay it back. He writes her love letters and tells her that she is the only one in his life, but I know better.

This girl has to work hard for her money and she needs it for herself. What do you think of her, and what do you think of him?

WORRIED PAL
Answer: I think that your friend is a mental case, and that any girl who lets a glib-talking grafter hold her up for her money should be put in a padded cell until she recovers her sanity. No girl who is in her right mind would let a deadbeat rob her of her pitiful earnings, for she would know that he belongs to the lowest type of humanity, the man who sponges his living off a working woman.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a widow 61 years old, financially independent. My problem is that my daughter expects me to be a baby-sitter, and nurse for her children, and I hate to refuse. I love my grandchildren and do my best to hold their parents with them. I do sewing, shopping, sometimes cooking, but I am not willing to take care of the children over a week end.

Please tell me what I should do. Must I sit up with the babies until they grow up? What is your opinion in the matter?

A DISGUSTED GRANDMA
Answer: You reared one batch of children and that seems to me any woman's quota, unless, of course there is sickness and lack of service in the house; then Grandma can be called upon to help out the situation.

But when Grandma is called upon to be a baby-sitter after night when the children's mothers and fathers are stepping out and having a good time, it is asking too much of Grandma would like to step a little herself sometimes. Or even rest her feet.

Killer Slain by Officers in Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Billy Ray Gilbert made good his boast that he would never be captured alive but failed to fulfill his vow to "take two officers with me" when he died.

The 28-year-old ex-convict, named as the mad-dog slayer of three persons near Needles, Calif., was killed last night by a hail of police bullets as he stepped nude from a tourist cabin where he tried to shoot it out with officers.

Gilbert was trapped in the cabin when the proprietor of the Red Win Auto court recognized him as the man sought in one of the biggest manhunts in the history of the west.

A crowd of 200 spectators watched as police ordered Gilbert to come out with his hands up. Instead, the desperado began firing with his .38 caliber pistol. Five shots hit Phoenix City Detective Ed Lasegrevin, 23, who was taken to a hospital where his condition was described as "poor."

Police poured a stream of fire into the cabin's attic, where Gilbert had holed up. Gilbert returned the fire until two tear gas bombs arched into the building.

"I've been shot in the head," he shouted.

Moments later he stepped from the doorway with his arms raised shoulder high. A pistol, still smoking, was in his right hand.

When he cleared the doorway, he brought both hands down suddenly. Police opened fire again.

Drive it and learn why

It's the Car that's 103 ways different!

Behind the wheel of a Frazer you suddenly realize you see much better, drive much easier. All other cars become old-fashioned.

Discover the balanced car. The Frazer has amazing new distribution of mass and load. Its inner-spring front shocks and trunk-control steering are basic and major improvements in engineering.

The differences of the Frazer begin with "years ahead" driving ease, riding comfort and luxury. You have air-conditioned coolness or warmth. You have the widest choice of colors and fabrics available in any car plus the unbeatable combination of performance and economy which only the Frazer's high compression engine can give.

You have a whole world of differences to discover in the Frazer. See it at your nearest Kaiser-Frazer dealer's—today!
